

(上续A20版)

Table with multiple columns containing fund names, managers, asset sizes, and other financial details. The table is organized into several vertical sections, each listing various investment funds and their associated information.