

(上接A34版)

Main table containing financial data, including columns for company names, fund names, and various numerical values. The table is organized in a grid format with multiple columns per page.