

(上接A28版)

Table with multiple columns containing company names, codes, and financial data. The table is organized into several vertical sections, each starting with a company name and code in the first column, followed by various financial metrics and dates in subsequent columns.

(下接A30版)