

(上接A58版)

Main table containing financial data with columns for company name, address, and other details. The table is organized in a grid format with multiple columns per row.