

(上接A7版)

Table with multiple columns containing financial data, company names, and codes. The table is organized into several vertical sections, each starting with a column of numbers (likely codes or IDs) and followed by columns of text and numerical values. The text includes company names and various financial metrics.